TWO KENTUCKY HANGINGS

THE MURDER OF JENNIE BOWMAN
AVENGED AT LOUISVILLE.

Albert Turner Hanged in the Louisville Jail Yard—His Last Night in Prison—A Short History of His Brutal Crime—Jim McElroy Swung Off at Henderson.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 1.—Albert Turner, the colored murderer, was hanged here this morning at 6:30 in the yard of the county jail, his neck being broken by the fall. The drop fell at 6:30 sharp, and the body was cut down at 6:55. Turner died game, showing not the least particle of fear.

Turner made a short address from the scaffold in which he reiterated his former confession that William Patterson, whom he had heretofore stoutly declared an accomplice, was not guilty or with him on the occasion.

Most of last night Turner spent in prayer, sleeping only an hour. He arose at 6 a. m. yesterday and prepared for baptism. A large tub, seven by three feet, was brought from the colored Baptist church, and at 10:30 Turner was led out of his cell, wearing dark trousers and a black and white checked shirt. Revs. Scott and Bates immersed him, and then the murderer leaped to his feet shouting: "Thank God! Bless Jesus! I feel like I will be with you in the morning!" The day was spent in receiving visitors at five cents each. About midnight Turner inspected his coffin and pronounced everything satisfactory.

The funeral will take place from the Zion Baptist church Sunday afternoon. The history of the crime for which Turner paid the death penalty, is as follows: About 10:30 a. m., April 21, a neighboring servant girl and a small child rapped at the rear door of No. 1522 Brook street, Louisville, and receiving no response, tried the front door. A faint moan caught their ears, and they hastily entered. Passing through the hall into the dining room a terrible sight met their eyes and the evidences of a desperate struggle were everywhere apparent. Bits of broken crockery and glass were strewn over the floor; tables and chairs were overturned, and everything was in confusion. Quickly passing into the next room they were almost overcome by the sight that was revealed. A pool of blood was seen in one corner; shreds of hair, brains, and torn, bloody clothing lay about. A broken glass pitcher was seen covered with blood, while in the center of the floor was a short iron poker clothed with gore and brain matter.

Horror-struck, the pair were about to fly from the place when other groans were heard to come from the second story. Nervously themselves the boy and girl quickly mounted the stairs and looked about. Lying in the little rear room which had been fixed up for her own private use, lay Jennie Bowman, the sturdy, honest servant girl in Mr. A. Y. Johnson's family. She was insensible and dying, her clothing torn to shreds and covered with clotted blood. Her face was absolutely beaten to pulp and swelled to twice its natural size. Both eyelids were a deep blue black, and the balls protruded from their sockets. The jawbones on the right side were crushed, all the front teeth knocked out, both ears split and the head covered with long, deep gashes, from one of which the brain matter issued.

This sight was too much for the horrified spectators, and they rushed screaming from the house. The alarm was immediately given and officers were dispatched to every quarter of the city and adjacent towns. The only clue they then had to work on was the fact that the assassin's face would be cut and scarred by glass. After several people had been arrested and released, Albert Turner, a negro, was caught and made a confession implicating William Patterson, also a negro, who was captured soon after. Turner said they had entered the house and were discovered by the girl. A struggle ensued and he struck her. She threw a heavy glass pitcher at him, and Patterson, coming up at this juncture, finished the murderous work with an iron poker. Patterson took the girl and outraged her. All this Patterson denied.

A mob, formed of Louisville's best citizens, got together to secure the miscreants and lynch them a few nights after, but troops and better counsel prevailed, and after three days of excitement the mob was quelled. Previous to this the men had been taken to the Frankfort jail to avoid lynching, and never in the criminal history of Louisville had there been so much interest manifested as in this crime.

Miss Bowman died on the night of May 9, and her funeral was one of the largest ever seen in the Falls City. The poor girl had lingered eighteen days between life and death with her whole right side paralyzed. Turner pleaded guilty May 13, and Patterson was found guilty a few days later. Patterson took an appeal, and his sentence was suspended to await the action of the court of appeals, which will not take the case up till next fall.

During his incarceration Turner has worn an air of braggadocio and laughed and gawped at the shadow of the gallows reached out for him. He was made a hero by simple-minded people and in his own estimation, but to-day his bull neck felt the halter, and the murder of Jennie Bowman was avenged. Turner was indicted, found guilty, and sentenced in the short space of one hour. In his confession Turner describes how he alone entered the Johnson house and cruelly assaulted Jennie Bowman. He never knew Patterson except by name, and was led to implicate him only through Chief Whallon's promise that if he "squealed" on his accomplice he would be saved from the mob.

Another One at Henderson.
HENDERSON, Ky., July 1.—Jim McElroy, the colored murderer, was hanged at exactly noon. The day of execution was originally set for May 13 last, but on the morning of that day he was respite till to-day. This was the first hanging by legal process in Henderson county since before the war, although the rope and noose have more than once been the instrument through which an indignant people have been restored to the peaceful and justice-loving status of good citizenship. On the 20th of last September, Walter L. Mart, a prosperous white farmer of this county, aged forty-seven, and the father of a family, was returning to his home in a two-horse wagon. He had been drinking some, and stopped at a wayside saloon to get another drink. While in the saloon he hired a negro, James McElroy, as a farm hand. Before leaving he and the negro drank together, and Mart in paying for the drink displayed his money, about $30. He and the negro then drove off. They were last seen about two miles from this city, the negro driving and Mart lying in the wagon. About dusk Mart's team was found on the roadside, Mart lying in the wagon with his skull crushed and his pocketbook gone. Mart was taken home that night, and died without regaining consciousness.

Circumstances pointed to James McElroy, who had a reputation as a desperate man in Union county, Kentucky, as the murderer. Officers went in search of him, and on the night of the 17th of October, Marshal Martin Hodges and a posse of Union county, arrested McElroy at his home near Raleigh, that county. McElroy refused to surrender, and opened fire on the marshal and party without effect, they returning the fire and severely wounding the murderer. When McElroy was brought to this city a mob was formed to lynch him, but they were outwitted by the sheriff, who rushed McElroy to Robert's station, Ky., in a survey, there taking the south bound train for Hopkinsville. The mob followed to Robert's station, twelve miles, but failed to find them.

McElroy was a coal-black, smooth faced negro, aged about twenty-four, five feet six inches tall and weighed 150 pounds. Until January 5 McElroy was confined in the Hopkinsville jail. He was then brought here for trial, causing a great deal of excitement, the court room being crowded almost to suffocation for five days. The negroes stuck to McElroy and seemed willing to swear to anything that would benefit him, and perjury was rife. After able arguments on both sides the case was given to the jury at 1:30 p. m., Tuesday, January 11, and in forty-five minutes a verdict of guilty was brought in. McElroy received the verdict of death with the same stoicism that characterized him through the trial. When the clerk finished reading the verdict, McElroy's mother, who sat by him remarked: "It is all up with you now, Jimmy." He smilingly replied: "I don't care a d—."

JEFFERSON DAVIS.
He Writes a Letter on the Question of the Southern Battle Flags.

BALTIMORE, July 2.—The following letter from Jefferson Davis in reference to the return of the southern battle flags has been received in this city: "If the object how to unite the people of the north and south as brethren in the Union, as a means to that and every sign of past conflict should, as far as practicable, be obliterated. To return as a point of pride a flag captured in battle by either Union or Confederate soldier would be equivalent to renewed exultation of triumph by one or the other, and surely not a step toward the restoration of peace."

"When the Confederate government evacuated Richmond, many flags captured in battle were deposited in the war office in Richmond. So far as I know they were all left there and found by the United States troops when they entered the city. This would at least exhibit proof of the fact that the south did not wish to treasure up such evidence of any triumphs it ever had over the north. The south has manifested no desire to have possession of the flags lost in battle. Their value departed when they were surrendered."

"Whether they should lie and be consumed by moths in boxes of the United States war office, or be returned to their former owners, has one element of value, which is, that the restoration would be a declaration, such as the old Romans made, that there should be no triumph for a victory won in civil war. So far as it should express the feeling of restored fraternity, it would be an advance toward that condition which all reasonable men will recognize as desirable among those who are to live together."

OH Well Statement.
BRADFORD, Pa., July 2.—In the New York and Pennsylvania regions 170 oil wells were completed in June, with a new production on the last day of the month of 5,384 barrels. The dry holes numbered thirty-two. Compared with May there is an increase of twenty-four new wells and of 2,154 barrels in new production. At the close of the month of June there will be sixty-five new rigs up and building, 107 old rigs which have been standing thirty days or longer, and 135 wells drilling, a total of 307. Compared with the count at the end of May there is a decrease of sixteen new rigs and twenty-six drilling wells, making a total decrease of forty-two. The number of old rigs remain the same as it was on the last day of May. The increase in new production comes from the new wells at Kinzua village, Reibold and John McKeown's No. 4, on the Martin farm at Washington, Pa.

The Volunteer Launched.
WILMINGTON, Del., July 2.—Gen. Paine's new yacht, to be called the Volunteer, was launched early yesterday evening at the yard of the builder, the Pussey & Jones company. About 1,000 persons, including some well known yachtsmen, were present and cheered the new craft as she slid easily into the river. Her designer, Mr. Burgess, Capt. Hoff, Mr. Kennison, Fairman Rogers and Nels Olsen, of the New York Yacht club, were among the number. Gen. Paine was not present. The builders have completed their contract, but the finishing work will be done by Lowry & Sons at Boston, whither the yacht goes next Saturday. Capt. Hoff, who used to sail the Mayflower, will command the Volunteer.

An Actress Wants Damages.
DETROIT, Mich., July 2.—Miss Carrie Williams, an amateur actress and vocalist, was recently invited to sit for a negative by a photographer, named Tomlinson. Soon after the portrait began to appear on bottles of cosmetic manufactured by the Acme Chemical company. Yesterday, Miss Williams brought suit against the photographer for damages to her feelings, good name and reputation. The company will also be sued. Tomlinson denies having sold the negatives or the print. A very interesting legal point is involved as to the rights of the young lady in her own portrait.

WASHINGTON TELEGRAMS.

MORE PARDONS AND COMMUTATION OF SENTENCES GRANTED.

Costly Pictures to Be Sent to the Minneapolis Exposition—The Receipts of the Government for the Past Fiscal Year, Various Other National News.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The president has granted pardons and commuted sentences as follows: Frank White, convicted in the southern district of New York of passing counterfeit coin, and sentenced July 3, 1885, to four years' imprisonment, having become entirely blind, has been pardoned on the express condition that he shall return to his home in Africa.

On account of bad health the sentence of A. J. Warren, convicted of keeping an illicit distillery and sentenced April 5, 1887, to seven months in the county jail at Atlanta, Ga., has been commuted to imprisonment for one hundred days. The sentence of Andrew Simmons, of Virginia, convicted in November, 1886, of selling liquor without a license has been suspended. John W. Tankisley, convicted in Kentucky of violating the internal revenue laws and sentenced in October, 1884, to one year's imprisonment and to pay a fine of $500, is pardoned, as is also E. S. Bakering, convicted in the United States court for the middle district of Tennessee, of passing counterfeit money and sentence postponed until July 6, 1887.

The latter pardon is based upon a recommendation from the district attorney, who says the money came into the convict's possession in course of business, and that he paid it out, not knowing its spurious character. In the case of John C. Allen, convicted of violating internal revenue laws and sentenced March 25, 1887, to four months' imprisonment in jail in Fulton county, Georgia, and to pay a fine of $100, the president has commuted the sentence to the imprisonment already served and payment of the fine.

Costly Picture.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—The bureau of printing and engraving is getting together some of the finest work done under the present regime to be sent to the Minneapolis exposition for exhibition. The exhibit will contain some extraordinary examples of engraving, and will possess considerable interest. All the work will be arranged in an artistic manner and displayed in one immense frame. The center piece will be formed by the new army commission, a piece of work that much pride is taken in, upon a background of sheets of custom fee certificates, of different denomination, design and color. Under this will be the portrait of President Cleveland, with Vice President Hendricks and Gen. Grant on his right and Secretary Manning and Gen. Hancock on his left.

This engraving of Cleveland is considered the finest likeness of him ever secured. Rejecting all the finished photographs, it was cut from a rough negative proof. From it a bust of the president that is being cut by American sculptor will be designed. Displayed under these portraits will be the new one, two, five and ten-dollar silver certificates, works of which Mr. Graves is justly proud. The side pieces will be formed of the oleomargarine, revenue and license stamps, treasury and postoffice drafts, portraits of dead senators and members that have been engraved by the bureau, and other recent works.

Receipts of the Government.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—The receipts of the government for the fiscal year ending yesterday were as follows: Customs, $217,408,983; internal revenue, $119,136,448; public lands, $7,500,000; miscellaneous, $27,340,403; net revenue, $371,385,834.

Public Debt Reduction.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—The reduction of the public debt for June, will be in excess of $10,000,000.

Express Trains Wrecked.
ZANESVILLE, O., July 2.—The Cincinnati express on the C. & M. V. broke an axle three miles south of the city, hurling the baggage car down a forty-foot bank. Several other cars followed, but by a miracle no one was hurt. The train had on board a Sunday school excursion returning from McCrea Park. Baggage-master Lane was badly bruised, and all the passengers were more or less shaken, but no one hurt. The wreck was a costly one. A terrible disaster was averted after the wreck by the coolness of the train men in flagging the C. & E. passenger train following close.

Celebrated Steeple Climber Dead.
CINCINNATI, July 2.—Joseph R. Weston, the celebrated steeple climber, died last night at his home, 79 Bank street, of abscess of the liver, from which he has been suffering for some time. He was forty-one years of age and leaves a wife and children. The funeral will take place next Sunday, and will be in charge of Cincinnati Division No. 2 Knights of Pythias and the Freemasons. He was a member of both organizations. His thrilling feats of steeple-climbing made him one of the most famous of his profession.

Indiana Millers' Association Election.
LAFAYETTE, Ind., July 2.—The State Millers' association met here yesterday and elected the following officers: President, William Styker, Kokomo; vice president, Isaac Miller, Peru; secretary, A. P. Lands, Lafayette; treasurer, H. J. Green, Attica; S. P. Boyer, Logansport; J. E. Laughry, Monticello; E. Hains, Williamsport; John Hartlein, Lafayette; D. F. Allen, Frankfort, and B. F. Starkey, Mulberry, were chosen directors. They decided to make no attempt to control the price of grain.

A Thief Lynched.
SIMSBORO, La., July 2.—Early Thursday morning disguised men took James Walden, colored, from the custody of a guard, who had him in keeping to answer to the charge of larceny, and hanged him. Walden's character was very bad. He was daring and was of a vindictive nature.

One Hundred Thousand a Week.
NEW YORK, July 2.—The Herald quotes a broker as saying that Eddie Gould, the younger son of Jay Gould, has made $100,000 in Wall street in the past week. Young Gould is not yet twenty-one years old, and left college only a few days ago.

THE BROKEN BANK.

Comptroller Trenholm Sues the Bank. Baldwin Surrendered but Halted.

CINCINNATI, July 2.—William Trenholm, comptroller of the currency, yesterday sued the Fidelity bank, its officers and directors, to forfeit its franchise and dissolve its corporation. The reasons alleged are that the bank made to the comptroller a false statement regarding its condition May 13, there being but $241,874.91 in the bank at the time when the statement said there was over $900,000; that J. W. Wilshire and Wilshire, Eckert & Co. were loaned money in excess of one-tenth of the capital stock actually paid in, in violation of the statute; that E. L. Harper and E. L. Harper & Co. were loaned similar amounts; that the capital stock was increased without the approval of the comptroller; that loans were made to different persons and Fidelity bank stock taken as security; that there was not on May 24 and other times the 25 per cent. reserve required by law to be kept on hand, and that clerks were over certified. Judge Sage set July 5 as the day for hearing the case.

The bondsmen who are bail for Ammi Baldwin, crooked cashier of the Fidelity National bank, surrendered him to the United States authorities this morning through their agent, Will Hazen, the detective. Mr. Wagner, who is Ammi Baldwin's bond, is assigned of Harper, and as such is required to give $300,000 bond. His bondsmen demand that he shall not be on any other bond, hence he retires from Baldwin's bond. George Thompson takes Wagner's place. The remaining bondsmen is Mr. Chatfield, who has not delivered Baldwin up. As yet it is not understood that the bond of $10,000 is to be increased.

"Baldwin has two bail bonds," said United States Commissioner Hooper. "One is for $5,000, with George Thompson and William Thompson as securities. This one was not in any way changed or affected by to-day's proceedings. The other, for $10,000, had as securities Mr. Chatfield, of Chatfield & Woods, and Adam Wagner. Wagner retires from the bond. George Thompson signs it in his place. A new bond is therefore made for $10,000 as before, with Messrs. Chatfield and Thompson upon it. It is merely in effect a change of one surety."

"Is there no talk of a final surrender of Baldwin for imprisonment?" was asked.

"I have heard none. Nobody believes that Baldwin would run away. I have never heard that his bail would be increased, as was the case with Harper and Hopkins. In fact Assistant Attorney Bruce was here when this bond was renewed to-day and did not say a word about increasing the bail. He certainly would have said something about it if such a thing had been intended."

"Is it thought that Harper and Hopkins would run away if they should get out on bail?" was further asked of Mr. Hooper.

"That is a question much discussed," said Mr. Hooper. "It is said of Mr. Harper that he has pleasant domestic relations and that if he intended to go to Canada or elsewhere, he had sufficient warning of the crash, and would have taken his family away with him before he got into all this trouble. I do not believe him to be a man of great foresight. I should say that if he and Hopkins see that they are certain to go to the penitentiary if they remain here the temptation to go elsewhere is irresistible. I do not believe that Harper has the money some people think he has. He hasn't $100,000, I am satisfied. He may have $20,000 or $30,000, or something like that."

"What will Harper and Hopkins do in court to-morrow?" was further asked of Mr. Hooper.

"I understand from their attorneys," said he, "that they will be brought before me Saturday afternoon and that they will waive examination and formally remanded to jail. Their reason for this delay in being formally committed is that while they remain in jail as they now are they can come before me and give bail at any time with little red tape, whereas when they are formally committed, as they will be Saturday, unless they then give bail, they will have to apply to the United States court for every step they desire to take."

"Will they be delivered over to a cell and prison fare then?" was asked.

"Not necessarily. Probably they will have all their present advantages in jail. That is a matter between them and Jailer Williams. It has always been customary in the jails to treat government prisoners better than any other kind."

The jail as usual was quiet this morning. Harper was busy in the private office, and feels pretty sore over the increase of his bond. "That's hitting a fellow when he's down," he said. Hopkins was standing in the corridor smoking.

What the Comptroller Says.
NEW YORK, July 2.—The Herald's special from Washington says: Comptroller Trenholm returned to this city from Cincinnati last night. The comptroller says that the failure of the Fidelity bank will not be felt materially in other parts of the country. All New York banks are safe, and will lose very little if anything. The government's agents are now at work on the report of the great wheat break, which will be an interesting story. There are several persons implicated whose names have not been discovered, but there will be several other indictments than those already made.

Building Trades Council Met.
NEW YORK, July 2.—The Building Trades council met here and adopted a circular to be sent to all federations, trades councils and labor unions. President Robinson was authorized to appoint a committee to try and effect a settlement between the master masons and the bricklayers of Chicago, and if this fails the trades council is to afford all possible aid to the bricklayers. A resolution was adopted asking all trades councils in the United States to send delegate to the next convention of the Building Trades council. The convention adjourned to meet in this city in September.

Attempted to Escape.
NEW YORK, July 2.—Albin Schamphelore, the Belgian forger, lately arrested in Hoboken, broke away from Deputy United States Marshal Bernhard, on Broadway, to-day, while being conveyed to Ludlow street jail and attempted to escape. An excited crowd closed around him, however, before he had made much progress and he was recaptured. He harangued the crowd energetically in French, and created quite a scene before the marshal succeeded in resuming his journey.

SATURDAY EVENING JULY 2, 1887.

The Treasury Department estimates the reduction of the public debt for June at $15,000,000. That's a good record for one month.

The Democratic convention at Georgetown, Ohio, Thursday, nominated Hon. Frank Davis, of New Richmond, for Judge of the Adams-Brown-Clermont district.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., is a prohibition town, and during the past month her officers haven't made a single arrest for drunkenness. Liquor is still sold at a few places in the town, but violators are exceedingly cautious.

A DISPATCH from Lexington says the colored paper published at that place has flopped from the Republican to the Prohibition party. The party is said to be gaining strength rapidly at that place. The dispatch adds that a majority of the white Prohibitionists there are from the ranks of the Democrats.

OPEN LETTER

From Judge A. E. Cole to the "Law and Order" People of Rowan.

D. B. Logan and Others, Morehead, Rowan County, Ky.—Gentlemen: I see from the Courier-Journal and other newspapers of June 30, that you ask the Circuit Judge of this district for a special term of the Rowan Circuit Court, to be called immediately, and in your resolutions "pledge your support in the selection of a grand jury that has the courage to find indictments against every infractor of the law." You also "pledge your lives in defense of every witness called to testify in the court, and guarantee to every accused person brought to Rowan County a fair trial and protection from violence."

In response to the foregoing resolutions, I will say that I do now and always have sympathized with the good people of Rowan County, both in their lawful efforts to obtain a reign of law and order in their county and also in their aspirations for a strict and proper enforcement of the same; for by the law all must abide if they hope to maintain their and to secure happiness to themselves and to their posterity. Moreover, I am ready at all times to give my influence and support to maintain the law and to assist in its enforcement to a speedy realization of its power and efficacy.

Indeed, I confidently believe that the commonwealth of Kentucky for this district for six years, and as Judge for more than six years, is a sufficient guarantee to all who know me, and who are governed by a reasonable degree of fairness, that I herein express my true sentiments.

As you know, the regular term of the Rowan Circuit Court begins August 2nd, and under no circumstances could a special term be convened before the 15th of July, I believe, therefore, that the best interests of the good people of Rowan County will be subserved by not calling a special term of said court at this time, but that a fair and impartial trial of all infractors of the law will be better secured at the regular August term. In the meantime the proper officers should arrest all the violators of the law, and place them either in jail or under bond, so as to secure their presence to answer any indictment preferred against them by the grand jury. Thus whatever may be done by the court and the people, will receive the approbation of all law-abiding citizens; thus the people will gain that confidence and regard throughout our civilized and christian land from which they have been deprived by the outlawry and bloodshed.

For the foregoing reasons I feel it my duty not to call, at this time, a special term of the Rowan Circuit Court.

Trusting that after mature deliberation you will concur with these views.

I am respectfully, &c.
 A. E. COLE,
 Judge Fourteenth District of Kentucky.

G. M. D.

Walking down Broadway is very pleasant when you feel well, and T—K— never felt better than when his friend asked him how he got over that severe cough of his so speedily. "Ah, my boy," said T—, "G. M. D. did it." And his friend wondered what G. M. D. meant. He knew it did not mean a good many doctors, for T—K—had tried a dozen in vain. "I have it," said he, just hitting the nail on the head, "you mean Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery,' or Gold Medal Deserved, as my friend J—S— always dubs it." Sold by druggists.

We accidentally overheard the following dialogue on the streets yesterday:

Jones—Smith, why don't you stop that disgusting hawking and spitting?
 Smith—How can I? You know I am a martyr to catarrh.

J—Do as I did. I had the disease in its worst form but I am well now.

S—What did you do for it?

J—I used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cured me and it will cure you.

S—I've heard of it, and by Jove, I'll try it.

J—Do so. You'll find it at all the drug stores in town.

Stock and Crops.
 A bountiful crop of blackberries is promised.

The wheat crop in central Kentucky is good in quality, but the yield is not a large one.

The Lexington grain merchants have been paying 70 cents for new wheat, but they say there's no margin for shipping at that price.

Portions of the blue grass region haven't had much rain for three weeks, and the Lexington Transcript reports the oat crop materially damaged.

The tobacco set in Bracken County this year is about one-third of the average crop. About one-half the average crop was expected, but the dry weather and failure of plants cut the average down.

City Items.
 Try Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Ask your grocer for Foerster's City Butter Crackers. They are the best.

The latest styles of wall paper and ceiling decorations, at J. C. Pecor & Co.'s drug and book store.

We are offering special bargains in fans, parasols, gauze underwear, etc., at Paul Hoeftich & Bro's.

 J. J. Atkins, Chief of Police, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "My family and I are beneficiaries of your most excellent medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; having found it to be all that you claim for it, desire to testify to its virtue. My friends to whom I have recommended it, praise it at every opportunity."

Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption is guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, Asthma, croup and every affection of throat, chest and lungs. Trial bottles free (Large size $1.00) at the Drug Stores of J. O. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

Brace Up.
 You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with headache, you are fidgety, nervous and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up. Brace up, but not with stimulants, spring medicines, or bitters, which have for their basis very cheap, bad whisky, and which stimulate you for an hour, and then leave you in worse condition than before. What you want is an alternative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of liver and kidneys, restore your vitality, and give renewed health and strength. Such a medicine you will find in Electric Bitters, and only 50 cents a bottle at the drug stores of J. C. Pecor & Co., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

CLEVELAND FUR ROBBERS

ALL THREE PRISONERS LANDED IN THE CLEVELAND JAIL.

An Attempt to Lynch Them on Their Arrival in That City—No Doubt About Their Identity—"Blinky" Morgan Talks To a Reporter—Wanted at Havana.

CLEVELAND, O., July 2.—The fur robbers, in charge of their captors, arrived here at 3 a. m. and are now safe in the Central police station. After the boat on which the three Cleveland fur robbers and murderers were brought to this city left Detroit last night, a tour of the vessel was made in search of crooks. A thorough examination failed to discover any suspicious persons, and the trip was made without special incident.

When the vessel arrived at the Cleveland dock at 6:30 o'clock this morning she was welcomed by a crowd of about three thousand people. The police had taken every precaution to prevent a rescue of the prisoners by their pals. As the gang plank was placed in position the robbers were brought out, chained together and surrounded by a half dozen officers. As soon as they appeared upon the plank the crowd made a mad rush for them, evidently bent upon doing them violence, but the police managed to maintain their lines and the attempt proved an unfruitful one. The prisoners were hurried into a patrol wagon and driven to the Central police station as fast as the horses could run. At 7 o'clock the desperate trio were transferred to the county jail, where they now languish under a heavy guard.

Capt. Hooch says he has not the least doubt that the prisoners are the men who assaulted him and Detective Hurligan on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh train on February 4 last. The man who gives his name as John Conghlin, the captain says, is the one who sat in the car with the officers before the assault was made and who so ably assisted in making the rescue.

"Blinky" Morgan said to a reporter this morning, that he supposed when he was captured that he was to be taken to Grand Rapids, where he is wanted for jail breaking. If he had known that he was to be brought to Cleveland and for the fur robbery, there would have been a much livelier time and more blood spilled.

Wanted at Havana.

RAVENNA, O., July 2.—There are two charges against the Cleveland crooks, robbery and murder. The first offense was committed at Cleveland and the latter here. The question now arises: Upon which charge will they be tried first? Will they be held here or taken to Cuyahoga county? The Cleveland men claim that our jail is insecure, but prosecuting Attorney Maxon, of this county, says the prisoners will be brought here, and the entire jail strengthened to hold them, if necessary. As murder is the greater crime it is very probable the prisoners will be brought here.

THE LAW OF EXCOMMUNICATION.

Henry George Professes to Know all About It—A Denial.

NEW YORK, July 2.—In this week's Standard Henry George has a long article on the excommunication of Dr. McGlynn, in which he endeavors to prove that some public ceremony will be necessary. He adds: "It is said that no public ceremony, and even no public notice is required, and that McGlynn will be excommunicated just as in the south people are supposed to be hooded in secret, and it is also said that it will not devolve upon the pope, upon the propaganda, upon Archbishop Corrigan or upon anybody else to excommunicate Dr. McGlynn, but that by the terms of the order he will excommunicate himself ipso facto, if he is not in Rome on the 3d of July."

All this he maintains is not only contrary to the declarations made by the archbishop's secretary, but also in flat contradiction to canonical law. He quotes Dr. Burtell's opinion on the subject, and concludes: "Catholics may rest assured by the law of their church that if they do not publicly hear of Dr. McGlynn's public excommunication he is not actually excommunicated at all. There being no delinquency in Dr. McGlynn's case, for neither propaganda nor pope have the slightest canonical right to order him to Rome, no excommunication based on this refusal to go to Rome can have any effect, even if it is proclaimed with bell, book and candle, and no Catholic will be under any obligation to pay heed to it."

Before leaving town yesterday Dr. McGlynn was asked if he wished to deny the story printed recently that he failed to pay over to the "Little Sisters of the Poor" the $500 left to him by his mother. "It is not worth the denial," he replied, "but I will say that the publication is an outrage, and it was an act of beastiality to give out such an untrue statement."

Pilgrimage of Talmage's Flock.

NEW YORK, July 2.—A goodly number of members of the Brooklyn Tabernacles, many of them accompanied by their families, started this morning on their annual grand pilgrimage. The places to be visited this year are Martha's Vineyard, Nantucket and Newport. The departure this morning was on the steamer Pilgrim, to Newport, and Martha's Vineyard will be reached at noon on Saturday. At night there will be a grand illumination in honor of the visitors. Dr. Talmage will preach on Sunday, and in the afternoon the Fitchburg Military band will give a sacred concert. On Monday Dr. Talmage will deliver a 4th of July oration, and there will be a grand display of fireworks. The Pilgrims will be tendered a reception by the Martha Vineyard club on Tuesday, and after spending Wednesday in Newport, will turn their faces homeward.

TOLEDO, O., July 2.—The body of a man, which evidently had been in the water several days, was found in the river to-day. There is a deep cut over the right eye. Several dollars were found in the pockets. It is believed to be a man named Keyser, who has been missing for some time.

Asiatic Cholera in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., July 2.—A patrolman was taken violently sick on his post last night and was removed home. A physician was summoned and upon examination declared that the officer was suffering from an attack of Asiatic cholera. He is not expected to live.

Got the Drop On the Doctor.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 2.—A fatal shooting affray occurred yesterday at Boxville, Union county, Kentucky, a few miles from Henderson, between J. L. Harris, a prominent farmer of Union county, and Dr. V. Newman, who recently removed from Boxville to Missouri. A dispute in regard to family matters ensued. Hot words followed, and both men drew revolvers. Harris got the drop on the doctor, however, and his first shot struck Newman in the right arm, rendering it useless. He fired two more shots in rapid succession. Newman was again wounded, this time in the abdomen and right hip. Friends carried Newman to his boarding house, and medical aid was summoned. He is reported as being in a dying condition. Harris went to Morganfield and surrendered to the authorities, and is now in jail.

Circus Man Fatally Cut.

FINDLAY, O., July 2.—During a row on the grounds where the Doris circus was giving an exhibition last night, one of the tent hands was fatally stabbed by some countryman, whose name could not be obtained, as he escaped during the excitement which followed the cutting. The wounded man, whose name is Russell, and claims Indianapolis as his home, is bleeding freely from several wounds inflicted upon his breast and abdomen, and will die before morning. The row was one incident to circuses and had no sensational features.

Old Soldiers Reunite.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 2.—Large numbers of veterans are arriving here to take part in the grand reunion of the Army of the Potomac, the Army of the Union of Virginia, the Grand Army of the Potomac and the Army of New Virginia. Sickles, Gen. Carl, Gen. Sharpe, Gen. Robinson and Col. Clayton McMichael.

A County With Two Seats.

GARDEN CITY, Kan., July 2.—In February last an enumeration was taken to fix the temporary county seat of Morton county, Kan. The enumeration reported favorably to Richfield, and Governor Martin designated that town as the county seat, appointing temporary officers. This, another candidate for the honor, rebelled against this, and held an election for officers, and the county now has two county seats with two sets of county officers. News comes here this evening that the rivalry between the two towns is anything but friendly, and it is expected every day that firearms will be resorted to. A riot is imminent, and there seems to be no remedy to prevent it.
